#iteachmsu Commons:

A space for sharing,
connecting and growing
as educators

The #iteachmsu Commons defines “educators” at Michigan State University in the broadest possible manner. If you contribute to MSU’s mission of teaching and learning in any way, you are invited to join this community at iteach.msu.edu.

A wide educator community helps learning happen across MSU. But, on such a large campus, it can be difficult to fully recognize and leverage this community’s teaching and learning contributions. To address this challenge, the #iteachmsu Commons provides an educator-driven space for sharing teaching resources, connecting across educator networks, and growing teaching practice.

The #iteachmsu Commons is a community committed to exchanging knowledge to elevate the culture of teaching and learning at MSU. Join to connect with other educators across the university today!

iteach.msu.edu is a space where you can direct your own learning and grow through immersion in post and playlists! You can share your insights, experiences, ideas, and questions or curate resources from other educators!

Part of the design of the #iteachmsu Commons community is the universal application of the hashtag. Each time you use this hashtag, you celebrate educational excellence at MSU through individual and collective efforts!
